| Beschreibung / BesonderheitenGroße Bereiche der Freesendorfer Wiesen werden von einem Küstenüberflutungsmoor eingenommen. Im nordöstlichen Randbereich befindet sich eine relativ isolierte Fläche dieses Moores. Sie wird begrenzt im Norden von einem Hochwasserschutzdeich, im Westen von einem künstlichen tiefen und breiten, zu einem jetzt stillgelegten Pumpwerk führenden Graben, im Süden von einem Graben entlang eines ehemaligen Prieles und im Osten von einem abgetrennten Abschnitt des ehemaligen Verbindungsgrabens zwischen der Spandowerhagener Wieck und dem Freesendorfer See. Die Fläche selbst ist von Prielen und Röten weitgehend frei.Die Vegetationsdecke der Fläche besteht aus einem Salzbinsen-Weiderasen mit unterschiedlichen Ausbildungsformen. Das Zentrum kann über längere Phasen flach überstaut werden. Daher unterliegt es einem etwas weniger starken Beweidungsdruck. Die Folge ist eine recht starke Verschilfung. Das Zentrum wird umgeben von einem schilffarmen Milchkraut-Salzbinsen-Weiderasen. Die grabennahen Randzonen sind wieder stärker verschilft, aber weniger stark als das Zentrum.Insgesamt ist der Weiderasen relativ artenarm. Neben den für die Rasen typischen Arten treten nur noch wenige Begleiter auf. |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                               |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |   |  |  |   |  |   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |
