| Beschreibung / BesonderheitenIn einer flachen Ackerhohlform haben sich nach Auflassung ausgedehnte und artenarme Dominanzbestände der Sumpfschilfbrache entwickelt. Einige typische Hochstauden feucht-nasser Standorte kommen vor. Randlich besteht Kontakt zu größeren Schilf-Landröhricht und kleinflächigen Grauweidengebüschen. Der Biotop ist durch einen Wall zweigeteilt, dieser ist von Brennesseln bewachsen. Links und rechts vom Wall herrschen heterogene Bodenwasserverhältnisse. Völlig vernässte Bereiche mit beginnender Röhrichtbildung, wechselnasse und mehr abgetrocknete Bereiche wechseln sich ab. Entwässerungsgräben existieren. In der unmittelbaren Umgebung besteht ein großer erlenbestandener Graben. Sonst herrschen abgesehen von den zuvor erwähnten Schilfröhricht Ackerbrachen in der Kontaktvegetation vor. |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                 |                          |                 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |                                                                                                                                                           |  |   |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
