| Beschreibung / BesonderheitenDas verlandete, eutrophe Gewässer befindet sich im intensiv genutzten Ackerland nordöstlich von Dalkendorf. Es ist in eine strukturreiche, dichte Gemarkungshecke eingebunden, die den Status eines Flächennaturdenkmals besitzt. Der südliche Bereich des Biotops weist noch eine freie Wasserfläche auf, die von Schilfröhricht umgeben ist. Die restliche Fläche fällt zumindest im Spätsommer trocken. sie ist nur sporadisch bewachsen und extrem sumpfig. Eine vertrocknete Wasserlinsendecke weist darauf hin, dass die gesamte Fläche lange Zeit des Jahres unter Wasser steht. Umgrenzt wird das Gewässer von Lorbeerweidengebüsch.Weiter nördlich schließt auf ansteigendem Gelände ein lichtet Feldgehölz an. Die Wasserfläche wird von Wasservögeln genutzt, der übrige Teil scheint ein beliebter Rückzugsraum von Schwarzwild zu sein. Auf der Fläche befindet sich sehr viel liegendes Totholz. |   |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |   |   |                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |   |  |  |   |  |  |   |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |  |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |   |  |  |  |  |  |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |  |  |  |
