| Beschreibung / BesonderheitenIn der südwestlichen Randzone des Ivenacker Seebeckens hat sich ein schmaler Saum eines Verlandungsmoores gebildet, auf dem sich erst in den letzten 80 Jahren (oder noch später) ein geschlossener Erlen-Bruchwald herausgebildet hat. Zuvor wurde die Fläche noch extensiv als Grünland genutzt, welches einen nur sehr lockeren Baumbestand aufwies. Die Torfe weisen vor allem in der Randzone Vererdungsmerkmale auf.Zur Zeit stockt auf dem größeren seenahen Teil ein relativ einheitlich aufgebauter Sumpfschmielen-Erlen-Bruchwald mit gut geschlossener Baumschicht. Eine Strauchschicht fehlt und die Krautschicht erreicht Deckungswerte bis zu 60 %.In der äußeren Randzone geht der Seggen-Erlen-Bruchwald in einen Rasenschmielen-Erlen-Bruchwald über. Dieser stockt zum Teil bereits auf humosen sandigen Böden.Seewärts schließt sich ein Saum niedrigwüchsiger Erlen an, dem ein Grauweiden-Saum und ein Schilf-Röhricht mit Typha angustifolia folgen. |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                       |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |   |   |   |   |   |  |  |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |   |   |   |   |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |   |   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
